Galley

Always take advantage of what's available where you're at, instead of being surprised when the next destination lacks ice, water, meat, or vegetables.

Pre-cruise menu planning is a must if your itinerary doesn't place you near a grocery store every other day. When stowing your food, consider how long it will keep, if it will spill, break, dry out, or absorb moisture. An organized, well-stocked galley will be more enjoyable for everyone aboard.
